Let's say I've written a function that I want to run on each invocation of a number (let's say foo) to produce a value of a function of foo (let's say foo-res), and I want to do this with as few threads/processes as possible. Currently, I've written the following: (def foo 1) (def bar bar) (def foo-res (partial foo bar)) (defn foo-handler [_foo bar] (println "Processing foo with parameters: " foo bar) (do (println "Processing bar with parameters: " bar))) (defn process-foo-result [% %]) (range (quot foo 1
