A: I solved the problem by running a backup of my appdata folder Hepatitis C virus infection in patients with long-term hemodialysis. The aim of this study is to assess the prevalence of hepatitis C virus (HCV) infection in patients on hemodialysis (HD) and to determine the degree of HD-associated liver injury in this group.

A total of 50 patients with end-stage renal disease (ESRD) on regular HD for longer than 12 months were investigated for the presence of viral markers. We used first-generation enzyme-immunoassay assay for the detection of anti-HCV antibodies, and the polymerase chain reaction was used for the determination of HCV-RNA in serum and for the detection of HCV RNA in HD water. HBsAg was tested by radioimmunoassay. We found HCV infection in 16 of the 50 patients (32.0%); 2 of these patients

(6.2%) were positive for HBsAg as well. Only 1 patient developed cirrhosis. No patient with HCV was dialysed through disposable tubing (polysulfone) while all others had standard hemodialysis (HD) circuits. We conclude that patients with ESRD on long-term HD have high prevalence of HCV infection. The incidence of HCV seroconversion in our patients was 9.3%. This rate is consistent with previous reports in this area. The presence of HCV-RNA in dialysate showed that the virus may have been transmitted by this route.

Q: React.js - Promisify export import function I tried to write Promisify for import -export function to be able to return array of objects from function. I wrote the code the same way as Promisify doc: export function

importFromJS(uri, localName, data) { return new Promise((resolve, reject) => { const request = new XMLHttpRequest(); request.open('GET', uri); request.onload = () => {
