Police officers were called to the family's flat on Monday morning, and the 34-year-old mum-of-three was arrested for common assault. Katie had apparently turned up at the house in Westbourne Grove, London, armed with a knife and demanding to see their son Harvey, two. According to the report: She brandished a knife at her husband's side and told him to stand aside, to which he replied that he was their child's father and he should be given preferential access. Her husband, Matthew Collins, who was in his late 20s, told officers: "It was not as if I'd done anything wrong." He also added: "She's been saying I'm not the father of my children, so I've had enough of that." A source said: "Katie has been holding on to her marriage. It's been very rocky recently." The couple have been in the public eye for many years, and Katie became a star in the 90s after appearing on the first series of 'The Price Is Right' as 'Katie & Eddie'. Q: Google Maps API to reverse geo code addresses (JS / PHP) Is there a way to reverse geocode an address in JavaScript / PHP or other language? I'd like to know the address of the address that has been given to me. A: There is a php API called Zara API It reverse geocodes addresses and provides a json response. // set your key $API_KEY = ""; // connect to the API $zara = new Zara\Api($API_KEY); // reverse geocode a request $coordinates = $zara->reverseGeocode($data); // print the response print_r($coordinates); You can run the above code in a PHP file and get a result. Just read the response which is the address and you can use it where you need to. The U.S. spent $14.7 billion to help Afghanistan develop its oil sector. But an aggressive push to burn more expensive indigenous Afghan oil hasn't paid off. Most of the money has gone to a government-run company
