Results of treatment of 82 patients, who were operated on congenital esophageal atresia, were presented.

Nine of them (11.0%) died as a result of perioperative complications. In spite of their maturity, conservative management was used in 49 (59.6%) patients. One or more of the following parameters were considered in the decision for surgery: hemodynamics, respiratory insufficiency, the anastomosis of the esophagus, feeding problems and the esophageal dilatation.

In spite of surgical treatment, one patient died. 76.2% of the operated patients were symptom-free after surgery."Being a brother to Jesus, sharing the love of God with the world." Main menu Tag Archives: just Post navigation Question: It seems like "grace" as we normally understand it isn't a good enough reason to stand in line at the airport or give a business card.

Don't we need some sort of good reason or "evidence" that we are in a right relationship with God? Response: Believe it or not, the whole idea of "good" comes from us. God has always been there for us, but we don't have to be holy or righteous to be in a right relationship with Him. Grace has always been enough. But we can't hide from the truth, we must stand in line, give business cards, offer to do things for people and be a good neighbor—we have to be accountable to God. We also have to be conscious of how we are living and the words that come out of our mouths. This is what Jesus is saying—well,
