The C20 3G is a mid-range 3G smartphone. While the C20 4G and C20 5G are the successor of the C19 4G and 5G, together with a bigger 5.5 inch screen and an active dual front-facing stereo speakers set at the bottom of the phone. This is no surprise considering that the Ascentia C19 was a surprisingly good device. So we have been waiting eagerly for a successor to this mid-range device. Now, we finally have it. The Ascensia C20 3G is already available online and should be delivered to the public later this week. "Since the launch of the Ascentia C19, we have received a lot of requests from the market for a more improved version of this smartphone, a version that costs less, but at the same time is able to deliver more. This is why we have decided to offer a much simpler yet better version of Ascentia C19, a version that brings a higher quality finish, a larger screen and a new dual front-facing speakers set. All you need to do is to choose one of the new Ascensia C20 versions depending on your preferences and budget." says Stefan Stas, CEO of ZTE South Africa, the company that developed and manufactured the new Ascensia C20.
