Adobe Photoshop CC 2019 was the biggest release of Photoshop in many years, and it's brought some major new features and enhancements. It's also the first major release to incorporate AI-based tools for content creation and feature recognition. You can download and use Photoshop free on a Mac or PC with the use of Adobe's Community Edition. Then the software can be purchased at a low cost or a subscription plan can be signed up. There are three main areas of operation in Photoshop CC 2019. First, there are the usual image editing functions: you can cut out, scale, crop, and more. For the first time in a long time, you can edit images directly from the RAW capture. You can open, close, and work with RAW files, and you can export either JPEG or TIFF images. The second area of Photoshop CC 2019 is with the introduction of what they call the Data Panel. This is a new way of viewing information regarding the image and it comes in addition to layers and masks. You can navigate through the image data through and switch from one data source to another without moving the image. You can make the changes and view them on the screen. There are a number of data sources, including Exposure, Exposure Map, Histogram, and Peaking. Additionally, you can also export data to a CSV file. The third area is the AI Toolkit. It has three AI modules: Content-Aware, Style Transfer, and Face-Aware. These modules use AI techniques to work with the image and come up with creative ways to manipulate or alter an image. Let's take a look at what new features Photoshop CC 2019 has. The New Features in Photoshop CC 2019 Image Editing Adobe Photoshop has continued to improve in image editing, offering the best tools for removing blemishes, improving color, and enhancing images. Tools for Crop Adobe has included crop features that let you crop images directly from your photo, and the new features give you more options than you may have realized. For example, you can now make changes to the image using the crop tool as well. It's now possible to crop to a specified area, shape, or radius, and it's also possible to crop all or part of an image and send it to another editing application. Canvas Size: You can customize the size of your canvas with the new canvas size feature. It's a new way

Washington, D.C. police say they are looking for a suspect after multiple glass bottles were found strewn on the ground in the city's downtown Dupont Circle section. A surveillance video obtained by NBC4 shows two people walking through the area between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 10:30 p.m. on Monday. At one point, a man may be seen with a closed umbrella walking through the area before the glass bottles are observed. "This is an ongoing investigation," police told NBC4. "We believe there's an individual or individuals responsible for breaking the glass bottles in this area." The images have been passed along to the Metropolitan Police Department's K-9 division to see if they can help identify the person or people involved, police said. Anyone who has information is asked to call the city's police non-emergency number at 202-727-9099.Widening the Town House Site in Old Town, Louisiana [Lafayette, La.] – The Louisiana State Historical Association (LSHA) is pleased to announce the second phase of their grant to the City of Lafayette, through the Neighborhood Revitalization Program (NRP), to widen the town house site, which is located in Old Town (La.) on Oregon Street between Jackson and Washington streets. The NRP program is designed to bring new life to existing and historic neighborhoods by revitalizing and revitalizing them. The grant program provides resources for citizens and elected officials to create "civic infill" through the use of land, existing structures, and cooperative neighborhood associations, and results in the development of new residential, retail, and commercial infrastructure within historic neighborhoods. In addition to the widening of the town house site, the grant will also provide enhanced landscape design throughout the entire Old Town Historic District, including the drainage and grading of the sites, and street improvements, including the installation of brick and ornamental grates. "The Louisiana State Historical Association is grateful to the City of Lafayette for its support in the revitalization of Old Town," said LSHA President A. J. Thompson. "The upgrading of this town house site, which will provide a welcoming spot for residents and visitors to this vibrant historic district, will greatly improve the overall quality of life in a neighborhood known for its commitment to historic preservation. The expanded site will also increase the amount of land
